Empowering members to achieve financial success.

2026 InFirst Federal Credit Union Financial Seminars

The Art of Budgeting

During uncertain economic times, creating your own financial map can be daunting with competing financial priorities representing different parts of your life. Gain insight to topics like managing debt, building an emergency fund, savings goals and budget techniques. Create a plan that fits your needs because budgeting isn't one-size-fits-all.

All About Credit

The name says it all - this course is going to teach you about the basics of credit. From establishing and building good credit, why it's important to nurture your good credit, types of credit (debt), the cost of credit, pros and cons of using credit, your credit report, and more!

Banking Products

Have you ever found yourself asking, "What even is a checking account?" If so, this class is for you. Learn about the different products and services your credit union can offer to make your life easier!

Loan Basics

Sometimes debt happens. Whether you need a new (or new-to-you) vehicle, a home, or to pay education expenses - a loan can be a helpful way to make it happen. Learn about the steps you can expect to take to go from "What if..." to "That was easy!"

Consumer Awareness and Fraud Protection

Fraudsters are everywhere. The likelihood that you or someone you love will be a target of identity theft remains high. This course can help you understand they different types of fraud, the risks of falling victim to fraud, and protecting yourself from its devastating impact.

Saving for your Future

If saving money was easy, there wouldn't be a need for this course. Learn how to make healthy financial habits to improve your savings. Set savings goals, build an emergency fund, and learn about wise spending.

Raising a Financially Savvy Child

Do your children think of you as their ATM? Do they run out of their allowance a day after you give them the money? Learn simple and entertaining ways of teaching your children to be savvy about their spending and saving habits. Teach them the wants vs. needs game early, so they will be equipped to face their future with money in their pockets.

Saving for College

Whether your child is 3 years old or 15, they are growing up fast and you need to plan for their future. There's no better time than now to start planning and saving for your child's education. Explore options on various savings vehicles available today, tax advantages, financial aid, scholarships, loans and more. Prepare now for your child's future.

Smart Money Habits in a Digital Environment

We are in the digital age, which means protecting your money virtually as well as physically. This class will help you learn how to make safe online transactions (as a buyer and a seller!), digital payment methods, and online security.

For more information, or to request a financial literacy topic, call 703.914.8700 or email infirst@infirstfcu.org.